Superintendent's Communication

I'm often struck by the power of words. Whether we tell a vividly dynamic story, or view video that stirs our emotions, the power of words painted into pictures brings thought to life. I've included a powerful slide presentation call "Every Monday Matters." This is an appropriate title for an educator to share because every new Monday brings a fresh beginning and commitment to serving our community by engaging children in the learning process. Each new Monday should also resonate with those in the world of work to remind us that we have the power to make a difference with our choices and how we act out our priorities. As leaders in our communities and in our schools, we should remember that all of us may not have an Every Monday to look forward to. So I see this month's communication as a call to do what we can, with what we have, so that all of us will benefit in the good that can be accomplished...beginning with Every Monday.
